

Cardio Study

Dr. William McIntyre, MD, FRCP(C)

Dr. William McIntyre, MD FRCP(C) is a native of New Brunswick. William graduated from Queen's University Medical School in 2010. He attended Queen's University for Internal Medicine residency and completed a residency in Adult Cardiology at the University of Manitoba. He maintains Royal College certification in both Internal Medicine and Adult Cardiology. William currently resides in Hamilton, where he is currently pursuing additional training in clinical heart rhythm at McMaster University.

Dr. McIntyre maintains a strong research focus. He has published over 40 peer-reviewed research articles. His main research interests include atrial fibrillation, cardiac devices and syncope. He is a member of the scientific editorial boards of the Canadian Journal of Cardiology and the Journal of Electrocardiology.

Dr. McIntyre is an experienced speaker, and has lectured to physicians and patients on cardiac devices, stroke prevention in atrial fibrillation and ambulatory heart rhythm monitoring technology.